

2008 ANNUAL REPORT

From the Board Chair and CEO

Dear Friends of Yosemite National Park,

As we embark on our 87th year serving Yosemite National Park, the Yosemite Association continues to be a vital link connecting people to this majestic landscape. With the support of our members and friends, the Association this past year provided nearly $2.3 million in financial aid and program services to the National Park Service while promoting park stewardship and enriching visitor experiences. Approximately 84 cents of every dollar the Association earned was returned to Yosemite—one of the highest figures in the country for similar organizations. In carrying out our important mission, we interacted with more than 200,000 visitors, many of whom have described their experience in Yosemite as life-shaping.

We are proud to be associated with Yosemite and all of the passionate people who make this place special. This annual report is designed to thank you for your dedication to our mission, and to showcase the many ways in which the Association builds on your support to enrich visitor experiences and conserve Yosemite for future generations. We all know Yosemite to be a magnificent landscape. Yet the real magic of Yosemite lies in the singular way it brings families and friends together for many great memories. The vignettes among these pages are your stories. They reveal the powerful connection between people and Yosemite, the Sierra Nevada and our National Parks.

“America’s Best Idea,” Ken Burns’ new documentary on our National Parks, will air starting September 27 on public television. Yosemite takes her due as one of the program’s stars. What you learn will make you proud and serve as a deep reminder of the role our parks play in preserving our national heritage. The story begins as follows: “On this vast continent with its extraordinary landscapes a democracy was born. And very early in its history people had the vision to set aside these heritage landscapes not for royalty, nobility or the wealthy but for everyone.” As we know, our National Parks embody our shared history and values and this series will connect with you in a powerful and personal way. Don’t miss it!

We thank you for your continued devotion and generosity helping us share the wonders of this special place. Together, we are building more personal stories with connections to the natural world and Yosemite. See you in the park!

PETE DEVINE EDUCATION COORDINATOR

Connecting to Yosemite through Education Programs

In 2008, the Association increased both revenue and participation in its education programs, with the most significant growth being in Custom Adventures.

In numerical terms, we have much to be pleased with. The Association's education programs connected with 3,600 people last year. We enrolled 570 people in our field institute program, the Yosemite Outdoor Adventures. Association naturalists led 770 people on a Custom Adventure; almost half of these visitors came to us through our new relationship with the highly regarded Backroads travel company. Our walk-in Naturalist Walks in Yosemite Valley gave hundreds of people closer looks at Yosemite's birds and waterfalls, and the Yosemite Art and Education Center hosted 2,000 people in its free art classes.

We tried to touch on all of the park's interpretive themes in our courses and spontaneous programs. The year started off well with an article in Sunset magazine boosting enrollments in our winter snowshoe natural history courses. Other popular Outdoor Adventures included Lucy Parker's Miwok-Paiute basketry course, the incredible natural history program taught by Jack Laws and David Lukas, and Jeff Maurer's raptor seminar. We were pleased to conduct our first "A Park for All People" field seminar series: four courses that bring to light Yosemite's American Indian, Latino, Chinese and African-American heritage.

Our plans to conduct a trip to visit Yosemite's two sister parks in China made solid progress. In January, Yosemite hosted a month-long visit by two personnel from Huangshan National Park that provided us with valuable connections. I had a chance to visit both Chinese parks last fall and was astonished at what I found: deep history amid profoundly beautiful mountains. People who love Yosemite need to see these parks.

The ten students who participated in UC Merced's Yosemite Leadership Program internships brought great energy to their work. They were assigned to tasks in interpretation, invasive plant management, air quality monitoring, search and rescue, archeology and wilderness functions. We look forward to continued growth in this program thanks to help from the Yosemite Fund and Toyota U.S.A.

TODD KING RETAIL DIRECTOR

Bookstores and Junior Ranger Center Expand

The Association continues to operate the bookstores in visitor centers throughout Yosemite National Park under a cooperating agreement with the National Park Service. More than 110,000 transactions with park visitors were conducted at our ten stores last year, including the Valley Visitor Center and the Museum Store, which are open year-round, as well as our seasonal stores at Tuolumne Meadows, the Wawona Visitor Center at Hills Studio, Big Oak Flat, Happy Isles Nature Center and Mariposa Grove. The Association continues to offer quality educational products and services to ensure that visitors can both learn about and enjoy the park.

All proceeds are reinvested to make Yosemite a better place. We added several new products to our inventory this past year, including the books Above All: Mount Whitney and California's Highest Peaks, Luminous Mountains and Norman Clyde: Legendary Mountaineer of the Sierra Nevada, in addition to several interactive tools for park visitors. The Valley Visitor Center store has been expanded into the lobby to give a more spacious feel to our retail area and help integrate our store with the Park Service to better serve visitors. In partnership with the Yosemite Fund and NPS, the Association converted the Happy Isles Nature Center into the Junior Ranger Center, which features educational books and products for families and children. All of our products are also available on our newly redesigned website, www.yosemite.org.

MUNJOAT SINGH HOTHİ

A Day in the Life of a Yosemite Intern

Munjoat Singh Hothi may sound a little funny here in America, but it is a common name for boys in India. That's my name, although I go by my nickname of Money, and India is where my parents were born and raised. As for me, I was born and raised in Lodi, California, after my parents married and chose to move to the States to start the rest of their lives together in the land of opportunities. Fast forward two decades, and I'm dribbling two basketballs, one in each hand, up the hill road at UC Merced to get to my morning class. A guy dressed in a funny uniform walks up from behind and starts a conversation with me. He introduces himself as Harry and at some point manages to sneak into my heart a burning desire to spend an entire summer in Yosemite National Park.

I haven't stopped talking since I've been in the park, and that's because my job doesn't really allow me to. I'm in the field of interpretation, and I'm only partly kidding. The majority of my job description is answering visitors' questions, and what visitor doesn't always have some questions in their mind? Another part of my job is preparing and giving a one-hour Junior Ranger program as a fun way to educate aspiring kids and their parents about the park. I do two of these programs a week. The rest of my work time I'm in the Visitor Center or walking around answering visitors' questions. The Visitor Center is usually very busy, but it never gets tough or old. It's hot outside, and there's an AC in the VC, so that's a plus. Not to mention, people from all walks of life come here so there's something to learn every day.

There's nothing in the job description that says you can't ask the visitor a question so I do so. I talked to one man yesterday with tattoos all over his body. I was fascinated as he walked me through the meaning of each one. When not asking questions, I'm answering visitor questions. To be able to do so, I obviously must be educated about the park. A handful of books were loaned to us at the beginning of summer. Also, the first three weeks were training. On one training day, all of us interns drove up to Glacier Point and listened to a Park Ranger yell at the top of his lungs "Let the fire fall!!!" He was telling the story of half a century ago when people would gather wood and start a fire at the top of Glacier Point every night. They would then "let the fire fall!" down the mountainside towards the valley meadow where thousands gathered to observe the spectacle.

Long story short, learning is fun in Yosemite. I love it here. I've talked to so many people about so many different topics. I now look at life a lot differently. In the past I've taken it seriously, but I just want to enjoy the rest of it. This was a great getaway. It wasn't a job; it was a vacation and I got paid! I am enhancing visitors' experiences by being nice and respectful, by answering their questions and by sharing stories. I feel that I am important to every visitor I come across. As I become more and more experienced, I become better able to enhance the visitors' experience, and the camaraderie in turn enhances my experience. Lesson learned: if others are having fun, I'm having fun. And if I'm having fun, that puts me in a great state of mind to accomplish anything I wish to accomplish. Working in Yosemite gave me such a sense of accomplishment, and now I feel like I can tackle anything I come across in life.

MALCOLM MARGOLIN HEYDAY BOOKS PUBLISHER

A Great Publishing Tradition

The Yosemite Association has had a long, glorious, even exuberant tradition of publishing great books—books of sparkling beauty such as Obata's Yosemite; magisterial books such as the monumental Illustrated Flora of Yosemite National Park by Stephen Botti; books of intelligent and playful practicality such as Steve Medley's Complete Guidebook to Yosemite; books of history such as William Alsup's riveting Missing in the Minarets; books celebrating the arts and culture of Yosemite's native people such as Legends of the Yosemite Miwok; books for children such as Two Bear Cubs by the San Souci brothers; books of gentle, quirky delight such as cartoonist Phil Frank's Fur and Loafing in Yosemite; and books that bring freshness to the human spirit such as Lee Stetson's Wild Muir. What a rich and splendid heritage!

In 2008, the Association and Heyday Books reached an agreement for Heyday to distribute its titles to bookstores around the country and to work with the Association to develop new titles. In 2008 our collaborative efforts resulted in three books:

Luminous Mountains: The Sierra Nevada of California

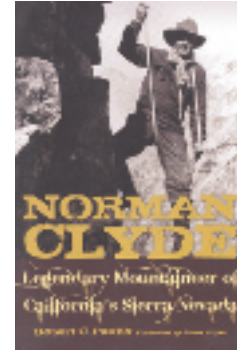

by photographer and nature writer Tim Palmer. Climber and founder of Patagonia sportswear Yvon Chouinard has said that Tim “embodies the spirit of the Sierra Nevada.” The book served as a platform for a huge educational outreach effort. Tim gave slide shows at fifteen different venues and informed people about crucial conservation issues in the Sierra.

Above All: Mount Whitney and California's Highest Peaks with photos by David Stark Wilson, text by Steve Roper and foreword by Ken Brower. This magnificent tribute to mountains in California above fourteen thousand feet got stunning reviews in places like the San Francisco Chronicle and the Sacramento Bee, and was the subject of a “California Report” on National Public Radio.

Norman Clyde: Legendary Mountaineer of California's Sierra Nevada by Robert Pavlik with a foreword by Steve Roper. Robert has been graciously touring the state giving presentations on a man everyone agrees was an extraordinary presence in the mountains.

We spent much of 2008 rigging the ship, so to speak, for future voyages. We secured a generous grant of $150,000 from the Stephen Bechtel, Jr. Foundation to develop a line of books aimed at youngsters, and secured further funding from the Yosemite Fund to enlarge our Junior Ranger offerings. With such an intense focus on books for youngsters, Kate Brumage of Heyday convened a conference of leaders in environmental education to share their thoughts and experiences with Heyday, the Association and National Park Service personnel on how best to reach younger readers with humor and effectiveness.

What's in the pipeline? We have three books scheduled for 2009: Flowering Shrubs of Yosemite and the Sierra Nevada, watercolors with botanical descriptions by Shirley Spencer; Granite, Water, and Light: The Waterfalls of Yosemite Valley with photographs and text by Mike Osborne; and First Light: Five Photographers Explore Yosemite's Backcountry by Charles Cramer, Karl Kroeber, Scot Miller, Mike Osborne and Keith Walklet with an introduction by Bob Hansen. First Light is a project supported by the Yosemite Fund.

When I spread out before me the books that Yosemite Association has published over the years, I feel a mix of wonder, pride and gratification. But a successful publishing enterprise is more than a collection of physical objects. It takes a community to make books—authors, editors, designers, printers, sales reps, bookstore workers, warehouse personnel, order clerks, merchandise managers, funders, reviewers and readers. Books create and hold together communities. On a personal note, I want to thank the board and staff of the Yosemite Association, National Park Service, Yosemite Fund, DNC Parks & Resorts, The Ansel Adams Gallery, and especially you the members of the Association for your support as we continue the tradition of producing great, beautiful and at times even transformative books under the Yosemite Association imprint.

New Grants Support Association Programs

Yosemite Association programs provide unique opportunities to learn about and experience Yosemite. We are fortunate to receive additional funding from valued partners to continue and expand these programs in 2009.

We are delighted by a new partnership with the Yosemite Fund, which is generously funding Yosemite Association Volunteer programs this year. With the support of the Fund, Association members will be able to continue contributing their time and energy on park restoration crews and as visitor information specialists.

Our Outdoor Classroom received a grant from Pacific Gas and Electric Company to expand our outreach efforts. The funds, which complement Ken Burns' upcoming series on National Parks ("America's Best Idea"), will be used to build media tools to share the diverse cultural history of Yosemite with a broader audience. The Chapman and Associates Charitable Foundation provided a grant to sustain youth activities in Yosemite by creating a bridge between the programs of the Association and those of our partner the Yosemite Institute.

Thank you for your vision and generous support.

A Part of the Yosemite Community Since 1923

The Yosemite Association has been a vibrant part of the Yosemite community since 1923. Every year the Association makes a concerted effort to connect people with this world-renowned feature in their backyard. This past year we hosted nine months of "Experience your Yosemite," a National Park Service program that brought leaders from Yosemite's neighboring communities for a day in the park. The program gave local leaders a forum to learn about current park issues, develop relationships and discuss park concerns relevant to the surrounding area. The Association also works with the Yosemite Superintendent to host public events and facilitate dialogue with the region. We continue to be active participants in such partnership meetings and help link gateway communities with Yosemite and its visitors. The Association lends support to local organizations, helps sponsor numerous events such as Earth Day, National Parks Week, National Junior Ranger Day and the successful National Parks Family Day around the region, and we make our locally-published books available to bookstores throughout the area.

LAURIE STOWE WILDERNESS MANAGER

Experience Wilderness in All Seasons

Yosemite encompasses a vast wilderness that covers more than 95 percent and 1,100 square miles of this national park. Whether people are seeking solace, refuge or a sublime place to experience nature with family and friends, there are many outstanding opportunities for solitude and beauty in the Yosemite backcountry.

The Association works very closely with the National Park Service (NPS) to provide opportunities for people to experience the Yosemite wilderness in all seasons, including:

- Operating the wilderness reservation system to help educate visitors about the wilderness, reduce impacts to the natural world and avoid overcrowding. In 2008 the Association and the NPS issued more than 16,546 wilderness permits to help people safely enjoy the Yosemite wilderness.
- Renting more than 8,500 bear canisters this past year at affordable prices so backpackers could keep their food safe and reduce human impacts to “Keep Bears Wild.”
- Continuing to operate the Ostrander Backcountry Ski Hut under an MOU with the NPS. This snowy retreat provides a magical opportunity to experience Yosemite wilderness during winter. More than 1,000 visitors stayed in the hut this past year, which has a fire burning in the evening and is completely surrounded by wonderful backcountry skiing and snowshoeing opportunities during the day. A partnership between the Association, the NPS and the Yosemite Fund led to significant hut improvements this past year, including a new roof and improved kitchen facilities to provide a more comfortable setting for visitors.

MEET OUR BOARD

KATHY FAIRBANKS Board Member and Half Dome Member since 2007

Kathy is from Sacramento, California. She joined because she wanted to be part of a group making a positive and lasting impact on Yosemite National Park. She supports the Association because it works with the National Park Service on programs that directly help to preserve and protect the park.

She also enjoys the educational and outdoor programs provided by the Association (outdoor adventure hikes, classes, seminars, interpretive programs) that give participants a deeper understanding and connection with Yosemite.

To her, the most meaningful thing about being a board member is providing input on Association operations and programs that help people make a personal connection to Yosemite. She believes that unique connection, whatever it may be, motivates people to protect Yosemite so they can share that positive feeling with others.

What Kathy enjoys most about being an Association board member is not restricted to board members, but open to all. She feels the Outdoor Adventure Classes are excellent, especially since the instructors can tailor an Outdoor Adventure to suit an individual. Kathy has taken many excursions, including the moonlight snowshoeing trip, and has also climbed Half Dome on an Outdoor Adventures tour. Kathy supports the Outdoor Adventure programs because they appeal to every type of Yosemite visitor.

MEET OUR VOLUNTEERS

VERN AND MARYJANE JOHNSON Volunteers and Members since 1990

Vern grew up in Portland as a small child, then moved to San Mateo. MaryJane is Pennsylvania Dutch, and lived in southeastern Pennsylvania until she met and married Vern in 1997. Now they reside in Santa Clara. They consider Yosemite their home when they are volunteering in the park, whether during the summer season or the almost two weeks each year when they work exclusively at the Valley Visitor Center and live in the Ranger Club.

Vern became an individual member in the late 1980s and upgraded to a life member in early 1990. MaryJane joined in 1995 after her son, Scott, took her to Yosemite for the first time. She fell in love with the park even though she was still firmly ensconced in Shillington, Pennsylvania. Scott learned about the volunteer opportunities offered by the Association and encouraged his mother to join. For her first few summers as a two-month volunteer, she drove across the country to get to the park. Vern gave MaryJane a life membership as a belated wedding present.

What they enjoy most about their membership is volunteering in the Valley as well as the annual membership get-togethers. They also love working the book sales at the Tuolumne Poetry Festival each August.

They share a love of the base of the nose of El Capitan for personal reasons. Vern's individual favorite spot is Sierra Point, while MaryJane's is Lower Pine campsite 72 with its view of Half Dome. She is also fond of Lower Pine 74 because that was where she was camped the summer she met Vern. Their favorite thing to do in Yosemite is volunteer.

The Yosemite Association Mission

Mission: The Yosemite Association (Association) is a nonprofit membership organization that provides opportunities for people to learn about, enjoy and experience Yosemite National Park and the Sierra Nevada. We celebrate the majesty and grandeur of this region through our visitor services, publications, outdoor classroom, membership activities and community programs. Our many programs and services help people of all ages and backgrounds gain an enduring and inspirational connection to the park. This deeper connection builds a commitment to the long-term preservation and vitality of Yosemite and our National Parks—for generations to come.

The Association invites you to:

-  Join and participate with a passionate and active membership that supports Yosemite, as well as receive the journal Yosemite, invitations to special gatherings in the park and throughout California, an e-news update, discounts on books and other products and a range of other member benefits offering opportunities to visit and learn about the park.
-  Build personal and public libraries of our award-winning books, maps, DVDs, posters, Native American hand-crafts and other publications that we hope will educate, celebrate and inspire the public to conserve Yosemite for future generations, as well as encourage talented scholars, writers, artists and storytellers to share their passion for the park.
-  Gain a deeper understanding of Yosemite’s natural, cultural and historic story through our Outdoor Classroom. Our experiential education programs are led by park experts and accomplished naturalists and include special and unique half-day, full-day, and multi-day outings, custom trips, field seminars, naturalist walks and various family and Junior Ranger programs.
-  Visit our sales and information facilities throughout the Yosemite region to purchase and enjoy books, maps and educational products about Yosemite and the natural world. Our website (www.yosemite.org) also provides valuable information for people interested in Yosemite and the Sierra Nevada, including a “Virtual Yosemite.”
-  Engage your artistic creativity through free hands-on artistic experiences and activities at the Yosemite Art and Education Center.
-  Join our volunteer corps and assist the National Park Service (NPS) in exciting and rewarding restoration work on meadows and trails, providing visitor information and assistance with events throughout the park.
-  Help the Association inspire and train the next generation of stewards through college internships, Junior Ranger and other programs to ethnically, culturally and geographically diverse populations.
-  Experience the Yosemite backcountry in all seasons, including the wilderness reservation and safety program, the bear canister program to “Keep Bears Wild” and the Ostrander Ski Hut for winter sports.

The first National Park Service Director, Stephen Mather, saw the importance of and need for private, nonprofit organizations to assist with the educational and interpretive mission of the NPS. As a result, the Association was the nation’s first cooperating association authorized by Congress in 1923 to partner with the NPS. Today, the Association continues to provide these services, as well as both direct and in-kind financial support to the NPS, to promote park stewardship and enrich the visitor experience.

MEET OUR DONORS

PATTI GARRITY Member since 1999

Patti resides in Manhattan Beach, California. She has lived there since 1955, when she began working as a stewardess for Western Airlines.

Every year Patti stays involved with the Association by attending events. Her first event was the Fall Gathering in Tuolumne Meadows eight years ago, and she has not missed an Association meeting since. She joined the Association because she wants to help the National Park Service preserve and maintain the park.

Patti enjoys spending time in all parts of the Park in all seasons. She especially relishes the views from Glacier Point and hiking Half Dome. She ran up to Half Dome and back with her boyfriend when she was nineteen and has enjoyed it ever since. Her favorite park activity is backpacking in the high country, including the High Sierra Camps.

Patti has a long history of involvement in Yosemite. She prepared the traditional plum puddings for the Bracebridge dinner for 35 years but has now passed the torch to the Ahwahnee chefs. She also served as a lifeguard and swim instructor in Yosemite, and later worked as a waitress at the Ahwahnee.

Leave a Yosemite Legacy

The Yosemite Association has many members and friends who are very passionate about Yosemite National Park and want to name the Association as a beneficiary in wills, trusts and other estate plans. Each year the Association receives critical support for Yosemite in the form of charitable bequests from wills and estate plans, as well as designations as a beneficiary in life insurance policies and life-income trusts. Such bequests play a vital role in future funding to benefit Yosemite National Park.

We encourage you to consider including a gift to the Yosemite Association in your will, trust or estate plan or designating the Yosemite Association as a beneficiary in your life insurance policy. The Association invites all planned giving donors to become members of our Yosemite Legacy Society by calling 209-379-2646. It's a way to ensure a legacy for the future preservation of Yosemite so others will enjoy this special place far beyond your lifetime.

Visiting Yosemite's Sister Parks in China

Having lived and worked in Yosemite for about twenty years, I am always looking for something new to learn about this marvelous place. When former Superintendent Mike Tollefson established relations with two incredible national parks in China (both World Heritage Sites like Yosemite), I felt that our park had gained a new dimension. It was if the family had found a long-lost relative in another country. I wanted to know so much, including:

- how are these two mountain parks like Yosemite?
- do they have (panda) bear problems?
- do they have glacial geology like Yosemite does?
- what are their hiking trails like?
- is there anything like Half Dome?
- did these parks have a preservation champion like our John Muir?

I had the chance to visit both Huangshan and Jiuzhaigou last fall. Their bird lists and tree species have surprising similarities and startling differences from ours. The place names are romantic and exotic to a degree that makes "Half Dome" and "Tuolumne Meadows" sound pretty banal. They have people-management issues and solutions that are mind-boggling. Both parks are culturally fascinating and world-class beautiful.

I am now excited to share our two Chinese sister parks with Yosemite-philes. In October of 2009, the Yosemite Association will lead a trip to visit Huangshan, Jiuzhaigou and two other World Heritage sites near our sister parks.

THE DETAILS:

- cost is about $4,800 (not including airfare)
- the trip will be about 12 days long
- the group will be limited to 15 adventurers
- we will NOT haul you on and off big tour buses all day, mass feed you at lazy lunch buffets or drag you in and out of silk shops, jewelry shops, ceramic shops and other typical tourist places; this is a park-specific exploration for people who really want to get out and hike.

Like Yosemite, both of these mountain parks are very popular and managers have to deal with crowds of admirers. We will have time to meet with park officials, to get out on the trails in uncrowded places and to learn more in-depth about the flora, fauna and geology. Our National Park Service connections with Chinese park officials will afford us valuable contacts on the ground for our explorations. Both parks are at moderate altitudes, and we will be hiking on trails that range from easy to strenuous.

All of the trip details are found on our website, www.yosemite.org. If you'd like to join my mailing list to receive updates right away, please send a note to this effect to info@yosemite.org. A unique natural and cultural history adventure awaits!

YOSEMITE ASSOCIATION

Join the Yosemite Association

The Yosemite Association initiates and supports interpretive, educational, research, scientific and environmental programs in Yosemite National Park, in cooperation with the National Park Service. Authorized by Congress, the Association provides services and direct financial support in order to promote park stewardship and enrich the visitor experience.

Besides publishing and selling books, maps and other materials, the Association operates an outdoor adventure program, the Yosemite Art and Education Center, the bear canister rental program and the Wilderness Permit Reservation system. Revenues generated by these activities fund a variety of National Park Service programs in Yosemite.

You can help us be successful by becoming a member. Individuals, families and businesses throughout the country have long supported the Yosemite Association with their dues and participation in our programs.

Won't you join us in our efforts to make Yosemite an even better place?
